TIMBER FOLDING DOORS BY ALLKIND JOINERY

For a cost-effective way to renovate that will make a dramatic difference to your home's appearance and the enjoyment you get from it, you want to know about timber folding doors. It's no exaggeration to say that not only can timber bi-folding doors transform your home's appearance; they may even transform your lifestyle. Read on to find out how.

There is simply no comparison between aluminium sliding glass doors and timber bi-folding doors when it comes to style. The best that can be said about aluminium frames is that they have a narrow profile. The beautiful Surian cedar frames on the Renovator's Range of timber bi-folding doors from Allkind Joinery Brisbane, on the other hand, are narrow enough to allow full visibility, yet wide enough for you to enjoy the look of natural timber in your home.

So why not head on down to Allkind Joinery and take a look at some of the products we have on offer! While you're here, you can take a minute to check out our brand new showroom.

RENOVATOR RANGE BY ALLKIND JOINERY

Allkind Joinery Brisbane is proud to introduce our new Renovators Range of solid timber doors. Long known as the cabinet maker Brisbane calls on for the finest in custom timber windows and doors, the Renovator's Range brings our most popular designs within the price range of the average home renovator.

What's the difference between the Renovators Range of timber doors and custom made doors from Allkind Joinery? Very little, really:

- In order to keep costs down without sacrificing quality, these doors are produced in quantities rather than one at a time.
- Renovation Range doors are made from Surian cedar or maple.
- Clear safety glass to Australian Standard (AS) 1288 is used on all glass panels.

When you buy timber doors from the Renovators Range, you can expect the same quality of workmanship, style and beauty that has made Allkind Joinery Brisbane's prestige joinery since 1970. The only difference will be the lower price.

Whether you want to just replace your entry door, your patio doors or all the doors in your home, you will find types and styles of solid timber doors or glass and timber doors that will be indistinguishable from custom made.

If you have ever seen our timber and glass folding doors, but thought you couldn't afford them, you will be delighted to know that these, too, are included in the Allkind Joinery Renovators Range. 3, 4 and 5 door models in Surian cedar with Merbau frames are available. With 620, 720 and 820mm door widths to choose from, you're bound to find a combination to fit your needs, without having to pay custom prices.

THE WORLD OF TIMBER ENTRANCE DOORS

Allkind Joinery Brisbane makes a lot of timber entrance doors. Many of their entry doors are frame and panel doors whose most distinctive visual feature is their craftsmanship and the fine timbers they are constructed from. You have to look a little more closely or be a trained cabinet maker to appreciate just how superior they are to mass-produced timber doors. A well constructed door will have mortise and tenon joints. The mortise is the hollow cavity at the end of the stile (the long vertical length of timber on each side of the door). The tenon is shaped from the door rail to fit perfectly into the mortise. Most better door manufacturers use this method of construction, but what makes an Allkind Joinery door superior is their use of 'through tenons'; tenons that extend through the entire width of the stile. These are then wedged and glued into place to produce a door that will last not just a lifetime, but potentially for generations to come.

Another thing that sets Allkind Joinery apart from its competition is the number of styles of entrance doors they offer. In fact, there is no limit to the styles of doors this Brisbane company can offer, because they can custom design one-of-a-kind doors that can better be described as works of art.

However, they do start from a list of some basic styles:

- A frame and panel timber door usually has four or more panels.
- A glass panel door has one or more panes of glass in place of a panel.
- French doors have glass panels for most or all of the length of the door.
- Pivot doors are extra wide doors that are hinged at the top and bottom.

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE WITH ALLKIND JOINERY

Australian Focus Construction, a leading Australian construction industry publication, recently ran a feature story about Allkind Joinery. A Tradition of Excellence, by Aleisha Parr, begins by noting the decline in construction quality as companies move towards “faster and cheaper processes” and goes on to cite Allkind Joinery & Glass as a shining example of an exception to this unfortunate trend.

The article goes on to say that by “maintaining original timber construction traditions while also embracing technology, Allkind is able to ensure the highest quality product for all of its customers.” This couldn’t sum up Allkind Joinery better. With a 40 year history of excellence behind it and a “tradition of excellence” that reaches back to the 1920s, this is one prestige joinery that has managed to maintain the time-honoured traditions of timber craftsmanship while fully embracing the best of modern technology.

An example of this perfect marriage between old world craftsmanship and new world technology cited in Ms Parr’s article is Allkind’s continued use of full mortise and tenon joinery in the construction of solid timber doors. This is a construction technique many joiners abandoned decades ago because it is a time-consuming and expensive technique. A less well-constructed door may last five years or even longer if not subjected to weather or abuse. This may be long enough for it to exceed its warranty (if it has one), but it’s not good enough for Allkind Joinery. Just as the timber doors and windows in many of Australia’s finest Federation homes are as sound today as they were a century and a half ago, this company wants its timber doors to be adorning the entrances of Brisbane homes a century from now.

Whether you need timber windows and doors; a new kitchen; timber cabinets for your living room, bedroom or office; or anything else that requires the skills of a master cabinet maker, Allkind Joinery has the expertise and experience you want at a price you can afford. There is no reason to settle for second-best when the best is in your own backyard.
